Life And Teaching Of The Masters Of The Far East, Vol. 1

Synopsis

ELEVEN MEN embarked upon a journey in 1894 with one objective: ...to find the great spiritual teachers of the Far East and witness their uncommon abilities. Since these Masters were scattered over a wide territory that covered a large portion of India, Tibet, China, and Persia, they knew it could take years of searching many secluded villages and hidden mountain communes. Planning each step of the journey became a challenge knowing that countless miles of rugged terrain separated the remote and isolate locations that were imperative to the exploration. Even though they could plot their route on a map and see where they were headed, the destination deep within the souls of eleven scientifically trained men remained uncertain. Baird T. Spalding and the others were practical in nature and the thought of spiritual masters performing miracles seemed impossible. Despite these suspect thoughts, something compelled them to move onward. So they did.

"The spiritual journey is a journey like no other. Although there is a destination, its direction is not from here to there . . . but rather from without to within." -- MARA MARIN, from Be Still and Know

Baird T Spalding's descriptions of his Far East travels have played a very important role in introducing to the Western world the knowledge that there are many Masters who are assisting in guiding the destinies of mankind. His encounters with the Masters present a dramatic unfoldment of spiritual teachings and episodes unparalleled in all of Western literature. --from book's back cover

Baird T. Spalding, whose name became legend in metaphysical circles during the first half of the 20th century, played an important part in introducing to the Western world knowledge of the Masters, who are assisting and guiding the destiny of mankind. Born in England, at age four he went to India. At age seventeen he finished the University and went to California where he stayed two years. He then traveled to Heidelberg, Germany and studied for eight years and then returned to California for post-graduate work in Archaeology at Berkeley and Stanford. After years of working with publisher Douglas DeVorss to write and promote the Life & Teaching series, Spalding died in 1953 in Arizona.

All the books in the series reveal something new for me. The authenticity of the author has often been in question in certain circles along with many others that have written similar material. For me, Spalding tells his story his way. There seem to be some overlap in events and information with other writers of the same timeframe, Yogananda in particular. Although both men came from very different backgrounds, they both kept their feet on the ground but their eye on eternity.

I loved this book. I wasn't sure whether I would or not but it's fascinating. I enjoyed every word and if you've read the Bible then you'll understand that there is definitely teachings in it which would validate this book's message.

I gave this book to the students in my A Course of Love Class as an opening into imagining a living life rather than just a survival based life.

These series of books have been around for almost 100 years. I have read them several times, beginning 40 years ago. They have helped me to understand the limitlessness of our potential. Now we read it aloud together as a group. Ten folks of varying ages and it works for everyone. A true blessing.

I am grateful for the many reminders in this book. We are awesome beings with amazing infinite potentialities within us as our True nature. It is so inspiring to remember that the Great Teachers are just like us -- only they remember and they are AWAKE. My intention is to be fully AWAKE too.:-)

This set of books was first given to me in 1976 by George Harrison. They have always been inspirational to go back into....I have since purchased, maybe four sets over the years and given them to close friends.i highly recommend them..especially the first three books...

The best boos ever written!

I have had read many many books on spiritual developement but this set of six books are on going tutorial of what its all about .All my questions answered . I have had my mind stretched.my belief strengthend.YOU can feel the truth of his experiences .WHAT a lucky lucky man to have met the masters and gone through all those experiences five times five out five star rating funny that as five is the number of god !!!!!
