The Good Sport: What Matters Most In Sports

Synopsis

What makes you stand out in your sport? What makes you different? What will give you a unique edge that can help you win both on and off of the field? It isn't your forty-yard dash time. It isn't your vertical leap. It isn't your height, weight, or any other physical attribute. Nope. The one thing that can set you apart (and maybe set you on fire!) is the ability to develop your Inner-G (Inner Game). In this small gem of a book, you'll learn why sportsmanship and character are the new forty-yard dash. Get these principles down and put yourself in position to be a great athlete and even better human being. Because good game starts always starts withIn!
