Luella is a amazing young lady. The way she helps Atlee with his wife and son is truly remarkable. You will feel God working throughout this whole book. You won't be able to stop reading this book.

This was a lovely book covering all the elements of Christmas, the Amish faith, and three generations of women. I loved the fact that the book covered three generations and was written by three generations of writers, Wanda Brunstetter, Jean Brunstetter, and Richelle Brunstetter. The beloved quilt has the verse, "For thou are my rock and my fortress; therefore for thy name's sake lead me, and guide me. Psalm 31:3, embroidered on it and proves to be a source of comfort to each generation. Luella's Promise Beginning with Luella who is a caregiver for her dying friend, Dena, we see that Dena gives Luella a quilt to pass on to Luella's future daughter, as Dena's mother had given it to her. It has been a source of comfort to Dena as she endures her illness. Dena only has a son, and cherishes her friendship with Luella and feels she would like Luella to have the quilt to pass on to her future daughter. We see how Luella hopes to find a love such as Dena and her husband Atlee share. Karen's Gift In the second story, we meet Luella's daughter, Karen and her family. She and her husband, Seth, have moved away from the community where they were raised and where their families live. She has a very hard time adjusting, then also learns one of her children has a disability. She finds great comfort in having the quilt and its verse to help her get through all the trying times she and her family go through. Roseanna's Groom The third story centers around Rosanna, Karen & Seth's oldest daughter. Rosanna goes through a horrible time of hurt, anger, and embarrassment when her fiancÃ©, John, leaves her at the altar. Her mother tries to give her the quilt to have as a source of comfort, but she tells her mother to save it for one of the other daughters and give it to them when they marry. She feels she may never marry as she doesn't believe she can get through this hurt. We learn if she is able to recover from this and move on with her life. I enjoyed this book very much and would highly recommend it for anyone who likes the Amish romance books and is looking for an enjoyable holiday read. I received a complimentary copy of this book from Barbour

Publishing and was under no obligation to post a review.

I am a huge fan of Wanda's so I knew her novella would be fantastic. I have read Wanda's daughter-in-laws writing in past books and really enjoyed her writing as well. But Wanda's granddaughter has a novella in this three part book so I did not know what to expect. I must say all three novellas were fantastic. I love how they are all woven together and the families are part of all three. Three generations of ladies and one quilt. The scripture on the quilt could not be more perfect. I loved how they all came together so perfectly. I must say this is a 5 stars two times book. I HIGHLY recommend this book. The Mary Reader received this book from the publisher for review. A favorable review was not required and all views expressed are our own.

The Beloved Christmas Quilt is a combination of three novellas written by Wanda Brunstetter, Jean Brunstetter, and Richelle Brunstetter. This book draws you in from the front cover. It really looks like Christmas. This story centers around three generations of Amish ladies who turn to their faith to help them endure loss and heartache but also helps them discover the love God has set aside just for them. The characters in each of these amazing stories are lifelike and very likeable. Each generation has their own story to tell and as the stories continue we watch a wonderful form. Passing a very special Christmas Quilt down to the oldest daughter on the first Christmas after her marriage became a tradition that helps to bond these ladies together. On the back of this Quilt is a wonderful Bible verse that has been embroidered there for the women to share at difficult times. I enjoyed each of the novellas because of the different writing styles displayed by each author. Although we all know and love Wanda Brunstetter stories this book introduces her granddaughter, Richelle Brunstetter. Her debut novella, Roseanna's Groom, brings a writing style to the readers that will keep them wanting more from her. I was given an advanced complimentary copy of this book to read and review by the author's and Barbour Publishing. I was not asked to post a favorable review in return. I have rated this book with five stars for meeting my expectations of a wonderful story that I would highly recommend to all Amish genre fans. Congratulations to Wanda Brunstetter, Jean Brunstetter, and Richelle Brunstetter on delivering a wonderful story about faith, love, and hope. This book would be a welcomed gift for someone special at Christmas. As always I will be anticipating the next great release from one or all of these authors.

The Beloved Christmas Quilt (Three Generations of Family, Romance, and Amish Faith) By: Wanda E. Brunstetter, Jean Brunstetter, and Richelle Brunstetter The Beloved Christmas Quilt is by three generations of authors and each is doing a story on one quilt that binds three generations of Amish Women together. Luella's Promise by Wanda E Brunstetter, Karen's Gift by Jean Brunstetter, and Roseanna's Groom by Richelle. All the stories are wonderful and well written. They tell how a beautiful quilt is passed down from generation to generation. All three of these stories are tied together and tells the lives of These Amish Women. There was times that I had tears in my eyes. These stories has loss, love, romance, faith, and second chances. I love the Bible verse that was on the quilt, Psalm 31:3 . It was just right for this quilt and family. I have read and love Wanda and Jean Brunstetter's books, but I was happy to get to read Richelle Brunstetter's story that was her first to be published. She did a fantastic job , and I loved it.I was given a complimentary ARC from the author and the Publishing House , but I was not told that I had to give a positive review.
