We Dine With Cannibals (An Accidental Adventure)

Synopsis

Oliver and Celia Navel have suffered through a whole summer exploring with their father's nemesis Sir Edmund, and are ready to begin a new school year glued to the TV. But when their mother vanishes (again) in search of the Lost City of Gold: El Dorado, the twins must trek from the ruins of ancient temples through the shadowy forests of the . This time, they'll need all their reality TV survival skills to brave raging river rapids, furious fire ants, and a most unusual jungle feast. Worst of all, if they can't outsmart the bad guys, they're going to miss all their favorite television shows!

"Thrilling and delightful! Finally, an adventure of the very best kind—the kind that happens to other people." —Pseudonymous Bosch, NYT bestselling author of The Secret Series

I picked up the book to read Sunday night and I couldn't put it down, wound up getting no sleep and finishing it by the next night. The book reads with a fast pace; there's seldom a moment when there's not a bit of action coming. The story also operates as a mystery, leaving little clues as it goes and resulting in surprises as the book progresses. This is an excellent follow-up to the first book. It doesn't read as a second chapter, but stands alone and develops new and different tropes rather than repeating anything from the (excellent) first volume. Recommended for kids and recommended for anyone who likes children's literature. Five stars!

I have read this whole series with my daughter during 1st and 2nd grade. They are definitely content appropriate and so charming. I enjoyed reading these books and was excited for the next night when we could continue following the adventures of the twins who do not want to be explorers. The books cover great deal of mythology and geography which was a fun addition....from looking for the Lost Library of Alexandria, to the Yeti, to Atlantis, to Krakens....this is a fun read for kid and parent. Definitely recommended.

My two grandsons of age 10 and 11 were able to read these books themselves (I gave each also a second in the series). They laughed out loud at the fictional characters who'd had it up to HERE with their overly adventurous parents. Being at the age to start feeling a bit exasperated at their own parents, they enjoyed the premise as well as the lively, well-written stories. This author has a great imagination! I will keep watch for more to be published in America (I believe they're published first in England?) Christmas comes fast!

I've read this series to my 8yr old son every night for the last few months. We both enjoy them. I appreciate the authors notes at the end of the book where he lets you know some really neat truths that are woven into the story. It's quite educational if you talk about and expand on the places the Navel twins go and the things they discover. There are lots of adventures and make believe, which make the pages fly by!

My grandson is absolutely "hooked" on this series. He will not put the book down. The book arrived a day later than expected but was in great condition. Would highly recommend this book to 9-12 years olds (but must say my 64 year old husband has enjoyed it also).

This book was really fun. I read it to my children (9 and 12), one chapter a night...sometimes we would sneak in a couple of chapters if it was really good. They both loved it and asked for the rest of the series.

This story particularly had us rolling with laughter. I have to admit the Navel twins really are first class "adventurers" albeit very unwilling ones. The series is full of humor and fun. I highly recommend it and so do my children.

My son loved the book and finished very fast
