

The book was found

The Empires' Edge: Militarization, Resistance, And Transcending Hegemony In The Pacific (Geographies Of Justice And Social Transformation Ser.)

Synopsis

In the past decade the Asia-Pacific region has become a focus of international politics and military strategies. Due to China's rising economic and military strength, North Korea's nuclear tests and missile launches, tense international disputes over small island groups in the seas around Asia, and the United States pivoting a majority of its military forces to the region, the islands of the western Pacific have increasingly become the center of global attention. While the Pacific is a current hotbed of geopolitical rivalry and intense militarization, the region is also something else: a homeland to the hundreds of millions of people that inhabit it. Based on a decade of research in the region, The Empires Edge examines the tremendous damage the militarization of the Pacific has wrought on its people and environments. Furthermore, Davis details how contemporary social movements in this region are affecting global geopolitics by challenging the military use of Pacific islands and by developing a demilitarized view of security based on affinity, mutual aid, and international solidarity. Through an examination of "sacrificed" islands from across the region—including Bikini Atoll, Okinawa, Hawai'i, and Guam—The Empires Edge makes the case that the great political contest of the twenty-first century is not about which country gets hegemony in a global system but rather about the choice between perpetuating a system of international relations based on domination or pursuing a more egalitarian and cooperative future.

Book Information

Series: Geographies of Justice and Social Transformation Ser. (Book 21)

Paperback: 176 pages

Publisher: University of Georgia Press (January 15, 2015)

Language: English

ISBN-10: 0820347353

ISBN-13: 978-0820347356

Product Dimensions: 5.9 x 0.5 x 8.9 inches

Shipping Weight: 10.4 ounces (View shipping rates and policies)

Average Customer Review: 5.0 out of 5 stars 1 customer review

Best Sellers Rank: #780,710 in Books (See Top 100 in Books) #56 in Books > Politics & Social Sciences > Politics & Government > International & World Politics > Australian & Oceanian #228 in Books > History > Australia & Oceania > Oceania #1933 in Books > Politics & Social Sciences > Social Sciences > Human Geography

Customer Reviews

The Empires' Edge: Militarization, Resistance, and Transcending Hegemony in the Pacific. . . examines one of the most pernicious problems of the past two centuries in our region—militarization—and analyzes it in tandem with one of the great hopes of the same era—anti-imperialist resistance movements. . . . This book will help anyone who is interested in contemporary politics and international relations in the Pacific Islands region to appreciate just how high the stakes are when it comes to the militarization of the region—and this means not only scholars but also activists, journalists, and, indeed, military personnel. (Teresia Teaiwa The Contemporary Pacific) Davis shines a much needed light on the implications of what has seemingly become a normalized dominance—reminding us that the U.S. has been the dominant military power across the island pacific region since 1898—and uncovers how this military omnipotence has affected the lives of those on islands deemed to be strategically useful by, and to, the U.S. military, and on these islands—environments. . . . Davis deftly weaves complex geopolitical arguments through thick empirical research to unpack, unpick, and problematize the relationship of the U.S. military to these peoples and places, and the resistances that have grown up to it—its presence. (Alison J. Williams Geographical Review) A short review cannot do justice to Davis's rich set of observations and reformulations of standard thinking on issues of militarization, the state, and Pacific islander experiences of mythic and physical violence. It will be a book many islanders will want to read, and which many college instructors will want to consider for their undergraduate or graduate social science courses on the Pacific Rim, politics, space, militarization and the environment. (Catherine Lutz Island Studies Journal)

Social movements confronting military power in the Asia-Pacific region

Highly readable, unlike many other academic treatises on empire. Davis has a really radical and unique perspective on Asian Pacific politics, social movements, and ecology. Highly recommended for anyone interested in this region or in the 'newest' social movements of the 21st century that are striving for egalitarianism and sovereignty.

Download to continue reading...

The Empires' Edge: Militarization, Resistance, and Transcending Hegemony in the Pacific (Geographies of Justice and Social Transformation Ser.) Development Drowned and Reborn: The

Blues and Bourbon Restorations in Post-Katrina New Orleans (Geographies of Justice and Social Transformation Ser.) Social Security & Medicare Facts 2016: Social Security Coverage, Maximization Strategies for Social Security Benefits, Medicare/Medicaid, Social Security Taxes, Retirement & Disability, Ser The Little Book of Race and Restorative Justice: Black Lives, Healing, and US Social Transformation (The Little Books of Justice and Peacebuilding) Rise of the Warrior Cop: The Militarization of Americaâ€” Police Forces History of Empires: Rise and Fall of the Greatest "Empires" in History! Understanding The: Roman Empire, American Empire, British Empire, & Much More. ... Mesopotamia, Byzantine Empire Book 1) Empires of Medieval West Africa: Ghana, Mali, and Songhay (Great Empires of the Past (Library)) The Dynamics of Ancient Empires: State Power from Assyria to Byzantium (Oxford Studies in Early Empires) Empires of Medieval West Africa (Great Empires of the Past) Empires of Ancient Persia (Great Empires of the Past) The Geographies of Social Movements: Afro-Colombian Mobilization and the Aquatic Space (New Ecologies for the Twenty-First Century) Critical Perspectives on Contemporary Painting: Hybridity, Hegemony, Historicism (Liverpool University Press - Tate Liverpool Critical Forum) Hegemony How-To: A Roadmap for Radicals Hegemony or Survival: America's Quest for Global Dominance (American Empire Project) On the Edge of the Global: Modern Anxieties in a Pacific Island Nation (Contemporary Issues in Asia and the Pacific) Social Insurance and Social Justice: Social Security, Medicare and the Campaign Against Entitlements The Yoga of Eating: Transcending Diets and Dogma to Nourish the Natural Self Transcending Architecture: Contemporary Views on Sacred Space Transcending Post-infidelity Stress Disorder (PISD): The Six Stages of Healing Responsive Regulation: Transcending the Deregulation Debate (Oxford Socio-Legal Studies)

Contact Us

DMCA

Privacy

FAQ & Help